ALONG TROUBLED ARIZONA BORDER

Nine Troops of American Cavalry Are on Duty.

MEXICAN FACTIONS CLASH

Villa Forces and Carranza Detachment Battle Near Agua Prieta—General Maytorena Orders All Americans to Leave Naco, Sonora.

Washington, March 31.—Nine troops of United States cavalry, besides minor detachments, have been snapped back into active service along the troubled Arizona border. Despite agreements made by warring Mexican factions with Brigadier General Hugh L. Scott as late as January fighting between Villa troops and a Carranza detachment trying to reach Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz., from the interior, brought the troops out.

At Naco, Sonora, where the Scott agreement was entered into, the Villa general, Jose Maytorena, has ordered the Americans out of town and a squadron of American cavalry was placed in Naco, Ariz., directly across the border.

Twelve guns of the Third field artillery, on duty at Brownsville, Tex., watched over the only other immediate crisis—the effort of Villa troops to take Matamoros, Mex., which lies directly across the Rio Grande from Brownsville. Brigadier General Frederick Funston, who commanded at the recent occupation of Vera Cruz, is handling the situation there, with plenty of troops at Texas City, if he wants them.

Officials here said his instructions were "similar" to those issued to commanders at Naco last December, regarding protection of Americans from shots fired across the line. The exact text of his instructions was not given out.

Some 250 miles up the river is Nuevo Laredo, Mex., defended by Carranza forces, and opposite the American town of Laredo, Tex. Villa troops on the way to attack it were reported as far as Lampazos, which is some seventy miles southwest on the National railroad of Mexico, and a battle is expected there.

Finally troops of General Gutierrez, who apparently is playing a free hand, but is opposing Villa, while not attacking Carranza, were reported so close to Torreón, the great railroad and industrial center half way between El Paso to Mexico City, that Villa had returned there from Monterrey, 200 miles, to the east, relinquishing for the moment his campaign against the east coast in order to maintain his back fences.

SAVING IN FINANCE BILLS

Minnesota Senate Committee Cuts Department Estimates.

St. Paul, March 31.—Reductions totaling $1,169,902 in state government cost are contemplated in two general appropriation bills introduced in the senate by the finance committee.

The two bills, which cover the needs of state institutions and administrative departments separately, appropriate in all $10,426,862 for the biennial period beginning Aug. 1, 1915, compared with $11,596,664 for the two years beginning Aug. 1, 1913.

The board of control's request for $6,384,648 for the support of state institutions is cut by the finance committee to $4,843,033, or far below the $5,458,600 granted two years ago.

The state departments will have to get along, provided the bill is passed in its present shape, with $5,583,829, compared with $6,048,064 for the two-year period now nearing a close.

AUTO SKIDS OFF BRIDGE

Four Persons Are Drowned Under the Wreckage.

Seattle, March 31.—Four persons, members of prominent Seattle families, were drowned in the Duwamish river when an automobile belonging to Mrs. Morgan J. Carkeek ran off a bridge at Allentown, ten miles south of Seattle. All in the car except Mrs. Carkeek and her Japanese chauffeur lost their lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Prosch, Miss Margaret Lenora Denny and Mrs. Harriet Foster Beecher, an artist, were killed.

The party, a delegation from the Seattle Historical society, was going to Tacoma to inspect the exhibit of the State Historical society.

The chauffeur, Paul Kania, applied the brakes suddenly as the car ran on the slippery approach to the bridge.

The automobile skidded, crashed through the railing and turned a complete somersault as it fell thirty feet to the river below. The four who perished were caught in the wreckage of the car.

In his telegram Mr. Rockefeller informs the committee that the Rockefeller foundation stands ready to meet any deficit up to $100,000.

The crew of 31 was saved and landed at Holyhead by a Danish steamer this morning. The Flaminian was a 3,500 ton liner with a speed of 12 knots, but was not equipped with wireless, the scene of the wreck being 100 miles south of where the Palaba was sunk, and it is thought that the submarine that torpedoed that boat met the Flaminian on returning to her base and sunk her.

(By United Press)

The Germans who were massed for another attack on Przemyśl are reported to be retiring upon the border.

WAR COUNCIL AT BERLIN

Emperor William, Field Marshal von der Goltz, Military Commander at Constantinople, and Other Leaders Are Said to Be Planning New Campaign to Offset Fall of Przemyśl and Situation in Dardanelles.

Berne, March 31.—One hundred and sixty thousand German troops have arrived in Austria, the greater number being dispatched to Cracow and the Carpathians, and any point where a Russian attack is feared. One hundred and seventy troop trains have reached Angvar since March 24.

London, March 31.—Germany's next move in the military field—because some stroke either in the east or the west is expected before the allies attempt their spring advance—is at present the chief subject of speculation and conjecture.

According to reports reaching here from Petrograd the German emperor is now at Berlin holding a war council with Field Marshal von der Goltz, the German military commander of Constantinople, and other leaders, and is planning a new campaign to offset the fall of Przemyśl and meet the situation in the Dardanelles.

The return of ex-Premier Venizelos to Athens, after a short rest, the tumultuous reception accorded him and his reiterated of the declaration that Greece must join in the conflict on the side of the entente powers have combined to start up further predictions as to when the group of neutral states, which have been wavering so long, will take up arms. But the materials upon which these predictions are based are of the scantiest.

The inquest at Milford Haven, in the matter of the sinking of the steamer Falaba, has established an official death list of 111. Witnesses under oath testified to what had previously been charged that the submarine fired before sufficient time had elapsed for the removal of the passengers.

Walter Baxter, chief officer of the Falaba, contributed the odd statement that the submarine crew were dressed in khaki. He also swore that the submarine, when first sighted, flew the English ensign, which was replaced by the German ensign prior to the attack.

ARRANGE FOR FRENCH LOAN

The bonds will be offered to investors at 99½ and interest and will be payable at the option of the holder, both as to principal and interest, in New York in dollars or in Paris at the rate of 5.18½ francs.

The proceeds of these bonds will be used to pay for purchases made by the French government in this country.

London, March 31.—Official announcement is made that among the missing passengers of the steamer Falaba, which was sunk by a German submarine, is Leon Chester Thrasher, an American engineer, who had been living for the past year on the gulf coast, British West Africa.

Thrasher had an American passport and in the form he was required to fill out before embarking described himself as an American citizen, but gave no American address. He was employed by the Broomfield Mines, Ltd.

Inquiry at the offices of the company in London elicited the information that nothing had been heard from Thrasher and that it is presumed he was drowned.

AMERICA REPLIES TO BRITISH DECREE

Stands Firm for Right to Trade With Neutral Nations.

Washington, March 31.—The reply of the United States government to the British order in council, decreeing a virtual blockade against commerce to and from Germany, was cabled to Ambassador Page at London for presentation to the British foreign office.

As soon as the communication has been delivered it will be made public here and in London. In the meantime officials decline to discuss the communication.

It is known that the United States stands firmly for its right to carry on legitimate trade with neutral countries, even though they be contiguous to belligerents.

Diplomats of other neutral countries, particularly those of South and Central American governments, have displayed the greatest interest in the note.

Members of Chicago Painters' Council to Quit Thursday.

Chicago, March 31.—An order to strike Thursday morning was issued by union officials to 7,000 members of the painters' council, whose wage agreements have expired.

The strike order was issued when, it is alleged, the employers' committee failed to keep an appointment with the labor representatives.

Instead the Painters and Decorators' club, composed of employers, sent letters direct to the painters, paperhangers and glaziers, urging them to avoid "useless strikes" and asking them to ignore a form of contract which the painters' council declared must be enforced.

CANNONADE IS INTERMITTENT

Heavy Guns Roar Along the Entire Western Front From the Sea to the River Aisne—French Claim to Have Obtained a Slight Advantage in Champagne.

Paris, March 31.—The following official communication was issued:

"During the night of March 29-30 the enemy continued without result to bombard the Neuport bridges.

"There has been an intermittent cannonade on the entire front from the sea to the Aisne.

"In Champagne, in the region of Perthes, Beauséjour and Ville Sur Tourbe, there was an artillery action and mine warfare in which we obtained the advantage.

"In the Argonne fighting continues at several points with tenacity and determination, but without appreciable results to either side.

"On Monday Fort Donaumont, north of Verdun, was struck by twenty-one centimeter shells. Our artillery immediately silenced the German batteries. The fort was not damaged.

"In the western part of the forest of Le Pretre we carried a line of trenches in which we took 190 prisoners. Despite a violent counter attack we maintained the greater part of the trenches won.

"To the west of Pont-a-Mousson we carried a German post and repulsed three counter attacks.

"On the battlefield at Hartmannsweilerkopf the bodies of 700 Germans have been counted."

REQUIRES GREAT CAUTION

Warships Have Hard Task in Forcing Dardanelles.

London, March 31.—"A semi-official statement commenting on the Russian naval operations in the Bosphorus," says the Daily Telegraph's Petrograd correspondent, "warns the Russian people not to expect the speedy success either of the allies against the Dardanelles or the Russians against the Bosphorus.

"This double attack," the statement says, "has been co-ordinated carefully, but it is recognized that the operations will require great exertion and occupy considerable time. Whereas the allies are in a position to make good their losses in ships, however great, the Russian Black sea fleet is not in a position to do that. Great caution also is required, as the forts at both ends are manned with heavy guns."

BOMBARDMENT IS ABANDONED

(By United Press)

Constantinople, March 31.—The Turkish war department issues a statement to the effect that the Russian Black Sea fleet has abandoned the bombardment of the Bosphorus.

WAR COUNCIL AT BERLIN

Emperor William, Field Marshal von der Goltz, Military Commander at Constantinople, and Other Leaders Are Said to Be Planning New Campaign to Offset Fall of Przemyśl and Situation in Dardanelles.

Berne, March 31.—One hundred and sixty thousand German troops have arrived in Austria, the greater number being dispatched to Cracow and the Carpathians, and any point where a Russian attack is feared. One hundred and seventy troop trains have reached Angvar since March 24.

London, March 31.—Germany's next move in the military field—because some stroke either in the east or the west is expected before the allies attempt their spring advance—is at present the chief subject of speculation and conjecture.

According to reports reaching here from Petrograd the German emperor is now at Berlin holding a war council with Field Marshal von der Goltz, the German military commander of Constantinople, and other leaders, and is planning a new campaign to offset the fall of Przemyśl and meet the situation in the Dardanelles.

The return of ex-Premier Venizelos to Athens, after a short rest, the tumultuous reception accorded him and his reiterated of the declaration that Greece must join in the conflict on the side of the entente powers have combined to start up further predictions as to when the group of neutral states, which have been wavering so long, will take up arms. But the materials upon which these predictions are based are of the scantiest.

The inquest at Milford Haven, in the matter of the sinking of the steamer Falaba, has established an official death list of 111. Witnesses under oath testified to what had previously been charged that the submarine fired before sufficient time had elapsed for the removal of the passengers.

Walter Baxter, chief officer of the Falaba, contributed the odd statement that the submarine crew were dressed in khaki. He also swore that the submarine, when first sighted, flew the English ensign, which was replaced by the German ensign prior to the attack.

ARRANGE FOR FRENCH LOAN

New York Bankers Will Place Bonds on Market.

New York, March 31.—J. P. Morgan & Co., together with the National City bank and the First National bank, have concluded arrangements with the French government under which they shortly will make an offering to American investors of one-year 5 per cent French treasury bonds, according to announcement made here.

The bonds will bear date of April 1, 1915, and will mature April 1, 1916. Interest will be payable semi-annually. The bonds will be offered to investors at 95½ and interest will be payable at the option of the holder, both as to principal and interest, in New York in dollars or in Paris at the rate of 5.18½ francs.

The proceeds of these bonds will be used to pay for purchases made by the French government in this country.

The amount of the bonds to be purchased has not been determined, but probably will not be less than $25,000,000 and may be as much as $50,000,000.

AMERICAN ENGINEER LOST

Was Passenger on Ship Sunk by German Submarine.

London, March 31.—Official announcement is made that among the missing passengers of the steamer Falaba, which was sunk by a German submarine, is Leon Chester Thrasher, an American engineer, who had been living for the past year on the gulf coast, British West Africa.

Thrasher had an American passport and in the form he was required to fill out before embarking described himself as an American citizen, but gave no American address. He was employed by the Broomfield Mines, Ltd.

Inquiry at the offices of the company in London elicited the information that nothing had been heard from Thrasher and that it is presumed he was drowned.

KING ALFONSO.

WILL NATIONALIZE DEBT

King Alfonso Has Signed Decree Making Bonds Negotiable.

Paris, March 31.—King Alfonso has signed a decree for the nationalization of the foreign debt, says a dispatch to the Havas agency from Madrid. The bonds will be negotiated in Spain and the coupons will be paid exclusively in pesetas.

AMERICA REPLIES TO BRITISH DECREE

Stands Firm for Right to Trade With Neutral Nations.

Washington, March 31.—The reply of the United States government to the British order in council, decreeing a virtual blockade against commerce to and from Germany, was cabled to Ambassador Page at London for presentation to the British foreign office.

As soon as the communication has been delivered it will be made public here and in London. In the meantime officials decline to discuss the communication.

It is known that the United States stands firmly for its right to carry on legitimate trade with neutral countries, even though they be contiguous to belligerents.

Diplomats of other neutral countries, particularly those of South and Central American governments, have displayed the greatest interest in the note.

GERMAN CAMP TAKEN IN SOUTHWEST AFRICA.

London, March 31.—A Cape Town dispatch to Reuters' Telegram company says that a German camp at Platten, fifty miles northeast of Ukarima, German Southwest Africa, has been captured by the British. It contained great quantities of supplies, horses and live stock.

$1,000,000 CASH FOR AID

Americans Contribute to Belgians Largest Amount Ever Raised.

New York, March 31.—The cash contributions to the Belgian relief fund, according to an announcement made here, passed the $1,000,000 mark.

The exact amount collected so far is $1,004,005.44 and is said to be the largest amount ever raised by a committee on behalf of foreign charity.

7,000 ORDERED TO STRIKE

Members of Chicago Painters' Council to Quit Thursday.

Chicago, March 31.—An order to strike Thursday morning was issued by union officials to 7,000 members of the painters' council, whose wage agreements have expired.

The strike order was issued when, it is alleged, the employers' committee failed to keep an appointment with the labor representatives.

Instead the Painters and Decorators' club, composed of employers, sent letters direct to the painters, paperhangers and glaziers, urging them to avoid "useless strikes" and asking them to ignore a form of contract which the painters' council declared must be enforced.

FIGHTING SHOWS LITTLE RESULT

Paris Reports Spirited Engagement in Argonne.

CANNONADE IS INTERMITTENT

Heavy Guns Rear Along the Entire Western Front From the Sea to the River Aisne—French Claim to Have Obtained a Slight Advantage in Champagne.

Paris, March 31.—The following official communication was issued: "During the night of March 29-30 the enemy continued without result to bombard the Neuport bridges."

"There has been an intermittent cannonade on the entire front from the sea to the Aisne."

"In Champagne, in the region of Perthes, Beausejour and Ville Sur Tourbe, there was an artillery action and mine warfare in which we obtained the advantage."

"In the Argonne fighting continues at several points with tenacity and determination, but without appreciable results to either side."

"On Monday Fort Donaumont, north of Verdun, was struck by twenty-one centimeter shells. Our artillery immediately silenced the German batteries. The fort was not damaged."

"In the western part of the forest of Le Pretre we carried a line of trenches in which we took 100 prisoners. Despite a violent counter attack we maintained the greater part of the trenches won."

"To the west of Pont-a-Mousson we carried a German post and repulsed three counter attacks."

"On the battlefield at Hartmannsweilerkopf the bodies of 700 Germans have been counted."

AWARDS FRENCH AIR CORPS GRAND PRIZE.

Paris, March 31.—Acting on the suggestion of General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, the Academy of Sports has awarded the grand prize of 10,000 francs ($2,000) to the military aviation corps. Minister of War Millerand has undertaken to distribute money among the families of the French airmen who have been killed during the war.

REQUIRES GREAT CAUTION

Warships Have Hard Task in Forcing Dardanelles.

London, March 31.—"A semi-official statement commenting on the Russian naval operations in the Bosphorus," says the Daily Telegraph's Petrograd correspondent, "warns the Russian people not to expect the speedy success either of the allies against the Dardanelles or the Russians against the Bosphorus."

"This double attack," the statement says, "has been co-ordinated carefully, but it is recognized that the operations will require great exertion and occupy considerable time. Whereas the allies are in a position to make good their losses in ships, however great, the Russian Black sea fleet is not in a position to do that. Great caution also is required, as the forts at both ends are manned with heavy guns."

WILL DROP CONSUL'S CASE

State Department Desires That Prosecution Be Discontinued.

Seattle, March 31.—It was announced here that the prosecution of Dr. Wilhelm Mueller, German consul at Seattle, and B. Max Schultz, his secretary, charged with conspiracy to bribe an employee of the Seattle Construction and Drydock company to reveal secrets of his employer's business, will be dropped within a few days.

The state department at Washington desires that the prosecution, under a state law, be discontinued.

YOUNG BOXER IS KILLED

Pittsburg Lightweight Dies From Effects of Blow.

Steubenville, O., March 31.—Special Delivery Tully, Pittsburg lightweight boxer, is dead as a result of injuries sustained when he was knocked out by Banty Sharp in the first round of their bout here Monday night.

Tully was pronounced in good condition before the scrap started. He went down when a right was planted above his head.

Sharp was freed on $2,500 bail after a coroner's jury had decided Tully's death was due to a weak heart. The promoters also were released.

Morocco's Commission City.

Credit not Oklahoma, but Morocco,
with the latest commission government city. Tangier is not only that,
but an international city to boot.

Tangier was long ruled in part by a sanitary commission of foreign consuls.
Now it is in the Spanish sphere or belt of influence, and that again is surrounded by the paramount French power. The city itself is neutral and starts with a boom, France having written off part of its debt.

The assembly consists of twenty-four Moors and eleven representatives of the powers. The Moors are real
Moors, not subjects of other nations.
The military police is headed by a
Spaniard, the civil police by a Frenchman. A mixed court sits for foreigners; Moslem cases are tried by the cadi. Political patronage is to be given 33 per cent to France, 29 per cent to Spain, 18 per cent to Great Britain,
the rest at discretion.

Voters must be twenty-five years old,
payors of $24 a year house rent and noncriminals.

This is tough. Tangier used to be the best behaved city of its kind known, because, not having any extradition treaty, it drew thousands of criminals from all regions, including
New York. As there was nowhere to move on, they had to behave, and did.
Apparently these men cannot vote.

Morocco's Commission City.
Credit not Oklahoma, but Morocco,
with the latest commission government city. Tangier is not only that,
but an international city to boot.

Tangier was long ruled in part by a sanitary commission of foreign consuls.
Now it is in the Spanish sphere or belt of influence, and that again is surrounded by the paramount French power. The city itself is neutral and starts with a boom, France having written off part of its debt.

The assembly consists of twenty-four Moors and eleven representatives of the powers. The Moors are real
Moors, not subjects of other nations.
The military police is headed by a
Spaniard, the civil police by a Frenchman. A mixed court sits for foreigners; Moslem cases are tried by the cadi. Political patronage is to be given 33 per cent to France, 29 per cent
to Spain, 18 per cent to Great Britain,
the rest at discretion.

Voters must be twenty-five years old,
payors of $24 a year house rent and
noncriminals.

This is tough. Tangier used to be the best behaved city of its kind known, because, not having any extradition treaty, it drew thousands of
criminals from all regions, including
New York. As there was nowhere to move on, they had to behave, and did.
Apparently these men cannot vote.

A STITCH IN TIME

Brainerd People Should not Neglect Their Kidneys

No kidney ailment is unimportant. Don't overlook the slightest backache or urinary irregularity. Nature may be warning you of approaching dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease. Kidney disease is seldom fatal if treated in time, but neglect may pave the way. Don't neglect a lame or aching back another day. Don't ignore dizzy spells, irregular or discolored urine, headaches, weariness or depression. If you feel you need kidney help begin using the reliable, time-tried remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. For 50 years, Doan's have been found effective. Endorsed by Brainerd people.

J. T. Keough, 323 N. Ninth St., Brainerd, says: "Last winter I was in bad shape with hard backaches and pains through my sides and hips. I could hardly endure the misery. I tried several remedies, but Doan's Kidney Pills, that I got at H. P. Dunn's Drug Store, gave me the first relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Keough had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advt.

For the Children

A Cute Little Boy and His Easter Bunny.

One Easter eve I dreamed—'twas funny—I took a walk with an Easter bunny. He showed me, the Easter bunny did, Where all the finest eggs were hid. We had much fun, till I heard nurse say, "Wake up, wake up! 'Tis Easter day."

Br'er Fox and the Bunny.

Once upon a time there was a hen who, in order to be exclusive of her friends of the barnyard, built her nest up the road in a thicket under the fence and started in to raise a brood of chicks.

Everything worked fine, but one moonlight night there came a sudden stop, for down the road came a fox, nosing from side to side, till all of a sudden he spied in the moonlight in the grass the head of Mother Hen on her eggs. Quick as a flash he grabbed her by the neck and dragged her off the nest, and away up the lane he went. Sooth to say, it looked bad for the eggs in the nest. But up from the barn in the lane came leaping along, nosing from side to side, a little brown bunny, when suddenly he lighted on the vacant nest. Creeping closer, he took in the situation, the warm nest and nobody home. Instead of destroying them the dear little fellow just placed his warm body on the eggs and took the place of the poor mother, kept them warm all night, and the next morning, which was Easter morn, he brought forth a brood of chicks.

The Egg and Easter.

A province of the ancients is that "everything springs from the egg." Many writers assert that the custom of exchanging eggs was borrowed from the Jewish use of eggs during the feast of the Passover.

Others say that it is traceable to the fourth century, when the church prohibited eggs during Lent. This gave an abundance of eggs at Easter tide, some of which parents gave to their children, decorating them to make them more attractive.

In Italy, it is believed that a scarlet Easter egg, carried about the person during the year will bring good luck. The farmers believed that the land over which an egg had been rolled yielded plentiful harvests.

Why Quassia Was So Called.

Quassia, that exceedingly bitter drug so largely used for medicinal purposes, owes its name to a negro named Quassal, a native of Surinam or Dutch Guiana, who brought it into notice as a medicine about the middle of the eighteenth century. It was the wood of the quassia amara, a small branching tree or shrub, all parts of which were very bitter to the taste and which was used for tonics. From Surinam it was introduced into Stockholm in 1756 and in quite a short time became a popular medicine all over Europe. At one time so efficacious was it considered that drinking cups were made of it for the use of invalids suffering from dyspepsia or similar ailments.

Easter Bells and Blossoms.

The sweetest bells of Easter day Are not the ones that ring out clearly Their Easter message blithe and gay. Although, of course, I love those dearly.

But sweeter than their music, steals A perfume on the sunlit air, Until undoubtedly one feels The hyacinth has bells more fair.

Little, tinted, curling bells, Pink or purple, blue or white; Beauty such as theirs foretells Springtime joy and delight.

They say there lived in days of old A noble youth who was much famed For his curling locks of gold—Hyacinthus he was named.

He was changed into the flower That we hyacinth now call. By some ancient god of power, Yet no tears can we let fall.

At the fate of the fair boy, For the flower's bells proclaim Easter love and hope and joy. So give him enduring fame.

—Amy Smith.

CONQUERED THE ALPS.

A French and Swiss Military Feast in the Fifteenth Century.

There is something ludicrous in the contrast between the lumbering artillery with which Charles VIII. of France crossed the Alps in the summer of 1494 and the big guns of today that are rapidly transported by railway from one point to another. Count Louis de la Tremoille won great favor in the eyes of the king by his success in conveying over the precipitous slopes of the Appennines the train of fourteen French cannon, each of which was usually drawn by thirty-five horses.

When the French commanders were facing their dilemma the Swiss came to their rescue. These mercenaries, by plundering a captured town in violation of the king's command, had fallen into disfavor. Being anxious to restate themselves in their employer's good graces, they proposed to harness themselves to the guns and to drag them over the mountain. The king promptly accepted their offer.

The master gunner, Jean de la Grange, arranged the technicalities of the undertaking, but La Tremoille supervised its execution. And to him was chiefly due the perfect success of this enterprise—the transport of fourteen enormous cannon over a pathless and precipitous mountain in the scorching July sun.

To prepare a way for the guns, says Winifred Stephens in her book, "The La Tremoille Family," trees had to be cut down, rocks exploded and the ground leveled. In all these works Count Louis personally took part. Clad only in doublet and hose, he worked in harness side by side with the Swiss and with his own hands bore over the mountains helmets full of heavy cannon balls. All the while, with characteristic French patience and cheerfulness, he was encouraging the soldiers by offering rewards to those who should first drag their gun to the summit and providing drink with which to quench the men's parching thirst. Thus encouraged by their heroic captain and inspired by the martial music of trumpet, fife and drum, inciting one another to new efforts by those curious cries that their descendants even today call over the Alpine valleys, the Swiss at length succeeded in dragging all the fourteen cannon up to the top of the mountain.

Then came the descent, which was even more difficult than the ascent had been, for the guns were allowed to go down by their own weight, and the Swiss, roped to the backs of them to steady their descent, were in danger of being carried away by the momentum of the artillery. To La Tremoille's carefulness it was mainly due that not one life was lost during this dangerous business. At the end of two days the count, burned by the sun till he resembled a blackamoor, triumphantly told the king that his artillery train had crossed the mountain and lay safe on the boulder strewn bank of the river Taro.

TODAY'S BURDENS.

No one ever sinks under the burden of today. It is always the tomorrows and yesterdays that overwhelm us. If it were not for the sorrows of the past and our fears and anxieties for the future we could very well bear the cares of today and do its work. Every day holds its strength and its compensations as well as its troubles, but it has no provision for that which does not belong to it.

Words To The Wise

[No. 9]

The charge that saloons cause 80 per cent of poverty is utterly absurd. If this were true the "wets" would be poor and the "drys" would be rich. If this charge were not false, Turkey—where not a drop of liquor is made or sold—would be almost free from poverty. It is the poorest, most God forsaken nation on earth.

Poverty is due to bad luck and poor judgment. According to Bradstreet and Dun, 95 per cent of the people who enter mercantile pursuits to go broke.

Poverty is due to incapacity; the inability to make money or keep it after it is made.

Poverty is due to our industrial trust system, under which the few exploit the many. A few men get so much there is but little left for the rest of us.

A government report on the condition of Cotton Mill workers in prohibition states of the South states that "nowhere were there any expenditures noted for intoxicating liquors." When a man is TOO POOR to buy liquor, LIQUOR cannot be the CAUSE of his poverty.

The Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics issued a table showing that working men in the United States expend on an average less than 4 cents per day for liquor.

Does four cents a day mark the difference between riches and poverty?

There has never been seen more sordid, selfish arguments on any proposition than appeared over the signature of the so-called "Law Enforcement League." The arguments have dealt mostly with dollars and cents without sense, rhyme or reason. Everything has been measured in money. An effort has been made to show that the city lost on a murder trial $1,334.21 and received only $47.92 the day a certain man killed another. We are told that the man's life was worth $5,000, leaving a "deficit of $6,286.29." If this question can be settled on the principle of profits and loss, our good friends would have to favor prohibition in one place and the saloons in another. For instance:

A government report showing the number of murderers per 100,000 of population in our large cities for 1913 states that in prohibition Memphis they had 64 murderers to each 100,000 of population and in Chicago, with its 7,000 saloons they had only 9 per 100,000. Here is how the figures would stack up on this showing:

Cost of 64 murder trials in Memphis, if they average the same in Brainerd	$ 84,388.44
Each life valued at $5,000	320,000.00
Received from saloons nothing

Total cost	$404,388.44
Cost of 9 murder trials in Chicago at same rate	12,307.89
Each life taken valued at $5,000	45,000.00
Loss	$57,307.89

Fruit and Seed.

Every one who enjoys thinks that the principal thing to the tree is the fruit, but in point of fact the principal thing to it is the seed. Herein lies the difference between those who create and those who enjoy.

A STITCH IN TIME

Brainerd People Should not Neglect Their Kidneys

No kidney ailment is unimportant. Don't overlook the slightest backache or urinary irregularity. Nature may be warning you of approaching dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease. Kidney disease is seldom fatal if treated in time, but neglect may pave the way. Don't neglect a lame or aching back another day. Don't ignore dizzy spells, irregular or discolored urine, headaches, weariness or depression. If you feel you need kidney help begin using the reliable, time-tried remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. For 50 years, Doan's have been found effective. Endorsed by Brainerd people.

J. T. Keough, 323 N. Ninth St., Brainerd, says: "Last winter I was in bad shape with hard backaches and pains through my sides and hips. I could hardly endure the misery. I tried several remedies, but Doan's Kidney Pills, that I got at H. P. Dunn's Drug Store, gave me the first relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Keough had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

For the Children

A Cute Little Boy
and His Easter Bunny.

One Easter eve I dreamed—'twas funny—I took a walk with an Easter bunny. He showed me, the Easter bunny did, Where all the finest eggs were hid. We had much fun, till I heard nurse say, "Wake up, wake up! 'Tis Easter day."

Br'er Fox and the Bunny.

Once upon a time there was a hen who, in order to be exclusive of her friends of the barnyard, built her nest up the road in a thicket under the fence and started in to raise a brood of chicks.

Everything worked fine, but one moonlight night there came a sudden stop, for down the road came a fox, nosing from side to side, till all of a sudden he spied in the moonlight in the grass the head of Mother Hen on her eggs. Quick as a flash he grabbed her by the neck and dragged her off the nest, and away up the lane he went. Sooth to say, it looked bad for the eggs in the nest. But up from the barn in the lane came leaping along, nosing from side to side, a little brown bunny, when suddenly he lighted on the vacant nest. Creeping closer, he took in the situation, the warm nest and nobody home. Instead of destroying them the dear little fellow just placed his warm body on the eggs and took the place of the poor mother, kept them warm all night, and the next morning, which was Easter morn, he brought forth a brood of chicks.

The Egg and Easter.

A province of the ancients is that "everything springs from the egg." Many writers assert that the custom of exchanging eggs was borrowed from the Jewish use of eggs during the feast of the Passover.

Others say that it is traceable to the fourth century, when the church prohibited eggs during Lent. This gave an abundance of eggs at Eastertide, some of which parents gave to their children, decorating them to make them more attractive.

In Italy, it is believed that a scarlet Easter egg, carried about the person during the year will bring good luck. The farmers believed that the land over which an egg had been rolled yielded plentiful harvests.

Why Quassia Was So Called.

Quassia, that exceedingly bitter drug so largely used for medicinal purposes, owes its name to a negro named Quassi, a native of Surinam or Dutch Guiana, who brought it into notice as a medicine about the middle of the eighteenth century. It was the wood of the quassia amara, a small branching tree or shrub, all parts of which were very bitter to the taste and which was used for tonics. From Surinam it was introduced into Stockholm in 1756 and it quite a short time became a popular medicine all over Europe. At one time so efficacious was it considered that drinking cups were made of it for the use of invalids suffering from dyspepsia or similar ailments.

Easter Bells and Blossoms.

The sweetest bells of Easter day Are not the ones that ring out clearly Their Easter message blithe and gay. Although, of course, I love those dearly.

But sweeter than their music, steals A perfume on the sunlit air, Until undoubtedly one feels The hyacinth has bells more fair.

Little, tinted, curling bells, Pink or purple, blue or white; Beauty such as theirs foretells Springtime joy and delight.

They say there lived in days of old A noble youth who was much famed For his curling locks of gold—Hyacinth he was named.

He was changed into the flower That we hyacinth now call. By some ancient god of power, Yet no tears can we let fall.

At the fate of the fair boy, For the flower's bells proclaim Easter love and hope and joy. So give him enduring fame.

—Amy Smith.

CONQUERED THE ALPS.

A French and Swiss Military Feat in the Fifteenth Century.

There is something ludicrous in the contrast between the lumbering artillery with which Charles VIII. of France crossed the Alps in the summer of 1494 and the big guns of today that are rapidly transported by railway from one point to another. Count Louis de la Tremolle won great favor in the eyes of the king by his success in conveying over the precipitous slopes of the Appennines the train of fourteen French cannon, each of which was usually drawn by thirty-five horses.

When the French commanders were facing their dilemma the Swiss came to their rescue. These mercenaries, by plundering a captured town in violation of the king's command, had fallen into disfavor. Being anxious to reinstate themselves in their employer's good graces, they proposed to harness themselves to the guns and to drag them over the mountain. The king promptly accepted their offer.

The master gunner, Jean de la Grange, arranged the technicalities of the undertaking, but La Tremolle supervised its execution. And to him was chiefly due the perfect success of this enterprise—the transport of fourteen enormous cannon over a pathless and precipitous mountain in the scorching July sun.

To prepare a way for the guns, says Winifred Stephens in her book, "The La Tremolle Family," trees had to be cut down, rocks exploded and the ground leveled. In all these works Count Louis personally took part. Clad only in doublet and hose, he worked in harness side by side with the Swiss and with his own hands bore over the mountains helmets full of heavy cannon balls. All the while, with characteristic French patience and cheerfulness, he was encouraging the soldiers by offering rewards to those who should first drag their gun to the summit and providing drink with which to quench the men's parching thirst. Thus encouraged by their heroic captain and inspired by the martial music of trumpet, fife and drum, inciting one another to new efforts by those curious cries that their descendants even today call over the Alpine valleys, the Swiss at length succeeded in dragging all the fourteen cannon up to the top of the mountain.

Then came the descent, which was even more difficult than the ascent had been, for the guns were allowed to go down by their own weight, and the Swiss, roped to the backs of them to steady their descent, were in danger of being carried away by the momentum of the artillery. To La Tremolle's carefulness it was mainly due that not one life was lost during this dangerous business. At the end of two days the count, burned by the sun till he resembled a blackamoer, triumphantly told the king that his artillery train had crossed the mountain and lay safe on the bowlder strewn bank of the river Taro.

TODAY'S BURDENS.

No one ever sinks under the burden of today. It is always the tomorrows and yesterdays that overwhelm us. If it were not for the sorrows of the past and our fears and anxieties for the future we could very well bear the cares of today and do its work. Every day holds its strength and its compensations as well as its troubles, but it has no provision for that which does not belong to it.

Words To The Wise

[No. 9]

The charge that saloons cause 80 per cent of poverty is utterly absurd. If this were true the "wets" would be poor and the "drys" would be rich. If this charge were not false, Turkey—where not a drop of liquor is made or sold—would be almost free from poverty. It is the poorest, most God-forsaken nation on earth.

Poverty is due to bad luck and poor judgment. According to Bradstreet and Dun, 95 per cent of the people who enter mercantile pursuits to go broke.

Poverty is due to incapacity; the inability to make money or keep it after it is made.

Poverty is due to our industrial trust system, under which the few exploit the many. A few men get so much there is but little left for the rest of us.

A government report on the condition of Cotton Mill workers in prohibition states of the South states that "nowhere were there any expenditures noted for intoxicating liquors." When a man is TOO POOR to buy liquor, LIQUOR cannot be the CAUSE of his poverty.

The Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics issued a table showing that working men in the United States expend on an average less than 4 cents per day for liquor.

Does four cents a day mark the difference between riches and poverty?

There has never been seen more sordid, selfish arguments on any proposition than appeared over the signature of the so-called "Law Enforcement League." The arguments have dealt mostly with dollars and cents without sense, rhyme or reason. Everything has been measured in money. An effort has been made to show that the city lost on a murder trial $1,334.21 and received only $47.92 the day a certain man killed another. We are told that the man's life was worth $5,000, leaving a "deficit of $6,286.29." If this question can be settled on the principle of profits and loss, our good friends would have to favor prohibition in one place and the saloons in another. For instance:

A government report showing the number of murderers per 100,000 of population in our large cities for 1913 states that in prohibition Memphis they had 64 murderers to each 100,000 of population and in Chicago, with its 7,000 saloons they had only 9 per 100,000. Here is how the figures would stack up on this showing:

Cost of 64 murder trials in Memphis, if they average the same in Brainerd	$ 84,388.44
Each life valued at $5,000	320,000.00
Received from saloons nothing

Total cost	$404,388.44
Cost of 9 murder trials in Chicago at same rate	12,307.89
Each life taken valued at $5,000	45,000.00
Loss	$57,307.89
Received from 7,000 saloons	$7,000,000.00
Cost of trials	57,307.89

Balance	$6,942,692.11

Edited by the members of the Charter Commission favorable to new charter.

OUR PREAMBLE

"No form of government can in and of itself produce good results. The most that any plan can do is to provide an organization which LENDS itself to EFFICIENT action, and which at the same time places in the hands of the electorate some simple and effective means for controlling their government in their own interests. Beyond that results can only be obtained thru an enlightened public opinion."

THE MANAGER—THE MAYOR—THE "BOSS"—THE POOH-BAH

He is called the manager because he conducts or manages the affairs of the city like a manager of a corporation or large business establishment.

He is called the Mayor because the statutes of the state say that our chief executive officer shall be called the Mayor.

He is called a Boss by the political boss himself. Political bosses all over the country are aligned against the managers plan of government because it does not provide a place for them.

He is called a Pooh-Bah just to ridicule the thing, and this is done by those who have no constructive criticism to offer.

Where will You Get a City Manager?

The question is often raised "where will you get such a manager?" In Sumner, a city of 10,000, an advertisement for a city manager brought 145 answers. Two-thirds had municipal experience in engineering. Several were graduates of West Point, U. S. Military Academy, several from the Institute of Technology, Boston, and they came from all quarters of the country. The city manager for Hickory, N. C., came from Louisville, Ky.

The qualifications of a manager are—give us a man who is broad gauged, has confidence in his judgment and ability, and has had some experience handling men. You might add to this, some knowledge of municipal affairs but it need not be necessary, for a man having the other qualifications stated, usually has some good stuff with them.

The man really would not even need wide engineering practice be-

Why Traveling Men Shun The Dry Town

THE traveling man is the advance guard of better business. He is the good fellow who practices true temperance by drinking healthful, mild beer moderately.

He is the man who, privileged to drink his beer openly, never abuses that privilege, and who gets out from the place where investment and expansion are discouraged. He shuns the dry and backward town that has nothing to offer but the "blind pig" and the "speak-easy." In so doing, he voices the sentiment of all other progressive business men. —Advertisement.

cause he will have an assistant to handle that work. But some man who had experience in construction work or in municipal engineering would be better qualified.

There is no scarcity of such men, no, not at all. Pick up the American City Magazine and you will see lengthy ads of men with wide experiences looking for such positions. Further, some of our prominent universities are especially training men for this kind of work. Seeing here a field for a wide use of engineers they have adopted regular courses. When universities do that, it is significant.

The "Good Man" Fallacy

Every once in a while the idea that "good men" in our present council-mayor system make good government and that a successful man makes an ideal alderman receives a severe jolt. Such a man elected, and the voters are satisfied that the troubles of the city are over and settle down into peace and luxurious civic ease. But— This "good man" soon learns that he can not run the city like he does his own business. He tries to "start something" relative to this, that or other department, and in each case finds it can not be done or must be done some other way. Sometimes his plan had been carried so far that the public, who does not understand, thinks him repudiating his promise. This grows out of his misunderstanding the general theory on which his government was organized and managed. He does not know the details of the charter which controls. Also, the "red tape" bothers him, something which probably does not exist in his private business.

Then comes friction. The various aldermen or departments look at things from different view points, and each means to do what is right. But the friction is aggravated and friction once having occurred makes it all the more difficult to handle that particular person in the future. And so on.

To illustrate, the mayor, as chief executive, and leading citizen, wants to do certain things but he finds that he cannot make a move without the consent of the alderman, and the aldermen depending upon their local constituents refuse to give that consent or to co-operate. This of course involves a matter of temperament, and we know only too well from our own recent experiences that the temper of our officials has been running wild, and Brainerd gets no results.

It all goes to show that the business of city administration is too complex and technical for the untrained citizen. However "good" and however well trained he may be in private business lines he may be very ill fitted to fill a public executive office. Add to this an absolute and disjointed charter and troubles are multiplied, and the case becomes hopeless.

The remedy is the city manager idea. Under this plan, "Politics" which in its proper sense means policy making, is sharply distinguished from "Administration," which is another word for operation or the carrying out of policies. Executives should be trained and specially qualified men. Such it is impossible, except in rare instances, to secure by popular election. Such may consent to serve one term but never again, and the trouble begins again when the "good men" step out.

George Graves, the English comedian, is a wag off the stage as well as on it, and those who visit his dressing room at the theater find themselves continually nonplused. The room is simply a practical joke, from the collapsible peg on which it is impossible to hang your hat to the matchboxes into which all the matches are glued. Then there are glasses that spurt liquid down your shirt front, cigars made of lead, imitation burning cigarette ends, Gorgonzola cheese made of alabaster, and so many other disappointments that the visitor may be fooled a score of times in less than a score of minutes.—London Answers.

POWER OF PRESS IS DEMONSTRATED

Failure of Shipping Bill Attributed to Hostile Comments.

PUBLICITY MEN VERY ACTIVE

Administration, Realizing Part the Newspapers Play in Shaping Public Sentiment, Employs Numerous Press Agents—Prominent Republican Expects Root to Be Nominated.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, March 29.—[Special.]—There never was a time when newspapers were as important and had as much influence as the present. This fact has been brought out in a striking manner by recent events. The aim of every interest which desires to accomplish results or to prevent some action is to have the various sides of its case presented in the newspapers.

Publicity is actually necessary now to accomplish results. It means that public sentiment is a stronger power now than ever before and that to arouse that public sentiment it is necessary to secure publicity in the newspapers.

Administration officials have long felt the need of newspaper publicity, and hence in every department there is a press agent turning out matter for publication nearly every day. In late years the railroads and other corporations have found newspaper publicity of great advantage in presenting their sides of controversies to the people.

Trend of Investigations.

In several investigations which have been held recently there has been a trend in the direction of finding out what influences have been brought to bear through publicity. In some cases public men have declared their belief or at least left the impression that newspapers have been improperly influenced in the matter of publicity, but they have all shown their belief in the importance of publicity in the matter of influence in shaping legislation and executive action.

Bitter Denunciations.

Naturally any government official or legislative body which has had its pet scheme or proposition defeated by publicity or adverse editorial comment is much disturbed and inclined to charge all sorts of undue influence. Therefore there have been bitter denunciations of that portion of the press which opposed the shipping bill in the last congress and of papers which opposed the Moon railway mail pay bill that failed in the closing hours of congress.

And the men who are denouncing the press for its part in the defeat of these measures are also seeking an opening by which they may enter the columns of the press and give their side to the people. That shows that whatever may happen they recognize the power of newspaper publicity, a power that is generally recognized throughout the civilized world.

Expects Root to Be Named.

One of the most experienced politicians in Washington, a man who has seen every phase of political development, speaking of the Republican presidential race remarked: "I expect to see the convention settle down and nominate Root after there have been a number of ballots. They will reverse the usual order of things, and instead of nominating a possibly weak unknown they will name the strongest man they have got."

Bureau Reports.

It has developed in congress that some of the bureaus of the government which issue publications need, a managing editor, so as to blue pencil some of the stuff. Several times lately members of the house have called attention to these publications and pointed out absurd literature. One of the pamphlets of instruction related to the memorizing of the dates of one's birth. As read by one congressman the pamphlet said that one way was to "form some little jingle or rhyme on your birth year. For instance, 'In 1897 little Johnnie came from heaven,' or 'In 1882 little Susie began to boo.'"

"Is not that a fake?" inquired Butler of Pennsylvania.

"No, it is not a fake," replied Congressman Humphrey of Washington, and he was backed up by Minority Leader Mann.

Members of the house could not believe that such stuff was sent out in a government publication.

Displaying His Light.

Congressman Kindell of Colorado does not believe in hiding his light under a bushel. He secured a little time to talk on a measure affecting workmen and began by saying that he had "done more than any other man on the floor of the house for the benefit of the downtrodden people of the country."

After the laugh subsided he went along with a speech he always makes on the parcel post.

Champ Not a Champ.

Some surprise was expressed because Champ Clark sat down hard on the proposition that he come out as a candidate against Wilson. Champ is no champ. He knows that if any Democrat is to be elected in 1916 it must be Woodrow Wilson.

Is there one valid reason Why the Saloon should exist?

The saloon over the signature of the "Liberty and PROPERTY Defence Association" in a recent advertisement replied to our statement that there was no valid reason why the saloon should exist and gave as the SOLE REASON the following: "Every time a man wants a drink is an argument in favor of a saloon."

We believe a good lawyer would submit such a statement to the court or jury without argument. However, the temptation to analyze the statement is strong; can the above statement be accepted as a valid argument for the saloon.

(1) When the man who wants the drink has a large family of children and a wife living in squalor and poverty and supported wholly by public or private charity? Ask the Associated Charities how many cases of this kind they have had in the last year.

(2) When the man who wants a drink is a good hearted, well meaning man when sober but a brute to wife and children when drunk? Does it pay a community in dollars and cents to support an institution which causes such results?

(3) When the man who wants the drink is one holding a position of responsibility and trust? Think Mr. Voter, how many business and professional men who have gone the liquor route? Can money pay for these wasted lives? Does it pay a community?

(4) When the one who wants a drink is a young man just starting out in life and the tendency to be a "good fellow" is a powerful appeal? It has been less than a decade when one of our High School Athletic teams lost its game to a neighboring city because liquor had put some of its best players out of commission. Yet we spend money to teach these boys the evil effects of alcohol. Is the reason that he wishes to have a drink a valid reason why he should have it? Does this pay a community?

Mr. Voter: Will you accept such reasoning as a reason why you should vote for the saloon? Will you not insure the greatest LIBERTY to the greatest number by voting AGAINST LICENSE.

Nearly 500 Searching Woods in New York.

Corning, N. Y., March 29.—Nearly 500 militiamen, police officers and citizens are searching the woods in the vicinity of Addison and Woodhull seeking John Penny of Paterson, N. J., wanted in connection with the murder of Police Chief Finnell and Detective Gradwell of Elmira.

The man hunt began after a man supposed to be Penny fired a revolver at a farmhand near Painted Post.

A Whist Story.

When Lord Tinsley was imprisoned in the Tower of London for the O'Connor riot three of his friends, the Duke of Bedford, the Duke of Laval and Captain Smith, were admitted to play whist with him and remain till the lock up hour of 11. Early in the sitting Captain Smith fell back in a fit of apoplexy, and one of the party rose to call for help. "Stop!" cried another. "We shall be turned out if you make a noise. Let our friend alone until 11. We can play dummy, and he'll be none the worse, for I can read death in his face."

Eyeglass Insurance.

At the Club I accidentally knocked off a man's eyeglasses, which splintered on falling. The man replied to my apologies, "Never mind, old chap, they're insured." He gets a new pair for nothing and his policy costs him 1s. 6d. a year. If it is possible to insure against twins and triplets, poor potato crops and the loss of one's keys, why not against the smashing of spectacles and eyeglasses?—London Mirror.

The Ostrich's Legs.

Although the ostrich has powerful legs and can kick like a mule, his limbs are very brittle and are easily broken. He has two toes on each foot, one being armed with a horny nail, which he uses as his principal weapon of warfare. When an unarmed man is attacked by one of these birds the chances are very much against the man unless he can climb a tree or jump over a five foot wall.

Distribution of Wealth.

"If I had a million," said Meandering Mike, "I'd give every man that was broke a ten dollar bill. What would you do?"

"Me?" rejoined Pledging Pete, "I'd stand at the next corner and touch 'em as dey went past while dey was feelin' liberal."—Washington Star.

THE NEW CHARTER

Edited by the members of the Charter Commission favorable to new charter.

OUR PREAMBLE

"No form of government can in and of itself produce good results. To provide that any plan can do is to provide an organization which LENDS itself to EFFICIENT action, and which at the same time places in the hands of the electorate some simple and effective means for controlling their government in their own interests. Beyond that results can only be obtained thru an enlightened public opinion."

THE MANAGER—THE MAYOR—THE "BOSS"—THE POOH-BAH

He is called the manager because he conducts or manages the affairs of the city like a manager of a corporation or large business establishment.

He is called the Mayor because the statutes of the state say that our chief executive officer shall be called the Mayor.

He is called a Boss by the political boss himself. Political bosses all over the country are aligned against the managers plan of government because it does not provide a place for them.

He is called a Pooh-Bah just to ridicule the thing, and this is done by those who have no constructive criticism to offer.

Where will You Get a City Manager?

The question is often raised "where will you get such a manager?" In Sumter, a city of 10,000, an advertisement for a city manager brought 145 answers. Two-thirds had municipal experience in engineering. Several were graduates of West Point, U. S. Military Academy, several from the Institute of Technology, Boston, and they came from all quarters of the country. The city manager for Hickory, N. C., came from Louisville, Ky.

The qualifications of a manager are—give us a man who is broad gauged, has confidence in his judgment and ability, and has had some experience handling men. You might add to this, some knowledge of municipal affairs but it need not be necessary, for a man having the other qualifications stated, usually has some good stuff with them.

The man really would not even need wide engineering practice because he will have an assistant to handle that work. But some man who had experience in construction work or in municipal engineering would be better qualified.

There is no scarcity of such men, no, not at all. Pick up the American City Magazine and you will see lengthy ads of men with wide experiences looking for such positions. Further, some of our prominent universities are especially training men for this kind of work. Seeing here a field for a wide use of engineers they have adopted regular courses. When universities do that, it is significant.

The "Good Man" Fallacy
Every once in a while the idea that "good men" in our present council-mayor system make good government and that a successful man makes an ideal alderman receives a severe jolt. Such a man elected, and the voters are satisfied that the troubles of the city are over and settle down into peace and luxurious ease. But—

This "good man" soon learns that he can not run the city like he does his own business. He tries to "start something" relative to this, that or other department, and in each case finds it can not be done or must be done some other way. Sometimes his plans had been carried so far that the public, who does not understand, thinks him repudiating his promise. This grows out of his misunderstanding the general theory on which his government was organized and managed. He does not know the details of the charter which controls. Also, the "red tape" bothers him, something which probably does not exist in his private business.

Then comes friction. The various aldermen or departments look at things from different view points, and each means to do what is right. But the irritation is aggravated and friction once having occurred makes it all the more difficult to handle that particular person in the future. And so on.

To illustrate, the mayor, as chief executive, and leading citizen, wants to do certain things but he finds that he cannot make a move without the consent of the alderman, and the aldermen depending upon their local constituents refuse to give that consent or to co-operate. This of course involves a matter of temperament, and we know only too well from our own recent experiences that the temper of our officials has been running wild, and Brainerd gets no results.

It all goes to show that the business of city administration is too complex and technical for the untrained citizen. However "good" and however well trained he may be in private business lines he may be very ill fitted to fill a public executive office. Add to this an absolute and disjointed charter and troubles are multiplied, and the case becomes hopeless.

The remedy is the city manager idea. Under this plan, "Politics" which in its proper sense means policy making, is sharply distinguished from "Administration," which is another word for operation or the carrying out of policies. Executives should be trained and specially qualified men. Such it is impossible, except in rare instances, to secure by popular election. Such may consent to serve one term but never again, and the trouble begins again when the "good men" step out.

When one is coughing and spitting Quick Action Wanted

Thousands say Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is the surest and quickest acting medicine for coughs, colds, croup and la grippe. H. P. Dunn.—Advt. mwf Full of Tricks.

George Graves, the English comedian, is a wag off the stage as well as on it, and those who visit his dressing room at the theater find themselves continually nonplused. The room is simply a practical joke, from the collapsible peg on which it is impossible to hang your hat to the matchboxes into which all the matches are glued. Then there are glasses that spurt liquid down your shirt front, cigars made of lead, imitation burning cigarette ends, Gorgonzola cheese made of alabaster, and so many other disappointments that the visitor may be fooled a score of times in less than a score of minutes.—London Answers.

POWER OF PRESS IS DEMONSTRATED

Failure of Shipping Bill Attributed to Hostile Comments.

PUBLICITY MEN VERY ACTIVE

Administration, Realizing Part the Newspapers Play in Shaping Public Sentiment, Employs Numerous Press Agents—Prominent Republican Expects Root to Be Nominated.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, March 28.—[Special.]—There never was a time when newspapers were as important and had as much influence as the present. This fact has been brought out in a striking manner by recent events. The aim of every interest which desires to accomplish results or to prevent some action is to have the various sides of its case presented in the newspapers.

Publicity is actually necessary now to accomplish results. It means that public sentiment is a stronger power now than ever before and that to arouse that public sentiment it is necessary to secure publicity in the newspapers.

Administration officials have long felt the need of newspaper publicity, and hence in every department there is a press agent turning out matter for publication nearly every day. In late years the railroads and other corporations have found newspaper publicity of great advantage in presenting their sides of controversies to the people.

Trend of Investigations.

In several investigations which have been held recently there has been a trend in the direction of finding out what influences have been brought to bear through publicity. In some cases public men have declared their belief or at least left the impression that newspapers have been improperly influenced in the matter of publicity, but they have all shown their belief in the importance of publicity in the matter of influence in shaping legislation and executive action.

Bitter Denunciations.

Naturally any government official or legislative body which has had its pet scheme or proposition defeated by publicity or adverse editorial comment is much disturbed and inclined to charge all sorts of undue influence. Therefore there have been bitter denunciations of that portion of the press which opposed the shipping bill in the last congress and of papers which opposed the Moon railway mail pay bill that failed in the closing hours of congress.

And the men who are denouncing the press for its part in the defeat of these measures are also seeking an opening by which they may enter the columns of the press and give their side to the people. That shows that whatever may happen they recognize the power of newspaper publicity, a power that is generally recognized throughout the civilized world.

Expects Root to Be Named.

One of the most experienced politicians in Washington, a man who has seen every phase of political development, speaking of the Republican presidential race remarked: "I expect to see the convention settle down and nominate Root after there have been a number of ballots. They will reverse the usual order of things, and instead of nominating a possibly weak unknown they will name the strongest man they have got."

Bureau Reports.

It has developed in congress that some of the bureaus of the government which issue publications need, a managing editor, so as to blue pencil some of the stuff. Several times lately members of the house have called attention to these publications and pointed out absurd literature. One of the pamphlets of instruction related to the memorizing of the dates of one's birth. Why Traveling Men Shun The Dry Town

THE traveling man is the advance guard of better business. He is the good fellow who practices true temperance by drinking healthful, mild beer moderately.

He is the man who, privileged to drink his beer openly, never abuses that privilege, and who gets out and gladly boosts a town or quietly knocks it; who brings business to the lye town and keeps it away from the place where investment and expansion are discouraged. He shuns the dry and backward town that has nothing to offer but the "blind pig" and the "speak-easy." In so doing, he voices the sentiment of all other progressive business men. —Advertisement.

CHUM WENT DOWN ON THE "F" 4

Francis M. Hughson, Machinist, was a Great Friend of Wilber I. Bissonette, of Brainerd

DESCRIBED LIFE ON THE SHIP

"Well I Sure Was Lucky When I Shipped in the Navy", wrote Hughson a Month Ago

Wilber I. Bissonette, of this city, lost a chum, Francis M. Hughson, when the ill fated submarine F 4 dived to the ocean depths near Honolulu and made her grave there. Hughson was a machinist, first class, enlisting from his home at Los Angeles, Cal., two years ago. Young Hughson leaves his parents and a young sister. He had been corresponding regularly with Mr. Bissonette and the latter has many pictures of the submarine and some of its crew. Hughson, in a letter recently written, mentioned all hands working nights to help the electricians overhaul the batteries. Three shifts were worked. The F 4 was on a 48 hour engine run in January and made the best run.

Target practice followed in February and later she was to go in dry-dock at Honolulu, for about a month.

"Well, I sure was lucky when I shipped in the navy", wrote Hughson, who did not relish some of the land positions that he had held. He celebrated his 23rd birthday on January 6th.

Hughson also kept Mr. Bissonette well supplied with Honolulu papers. The last paper sent arrived in Brainerd March 20.

David Buchite, charged with bastardy, pleaded not guilty and his case was continued to April 7 at 2 p. m. Bail in the sum of $250 is to be approved.

FALLS FROM PONY, DRAGGED TO DEATH

Special by Phone to Dispatch:

Little Falls, Minn., March 31—Dragged by a pet pony in the business section of Little Falls, 14 year old Joseph Niesus, son of a prominent merchant of Pierz, had his brains dashed out and the crumpled body was picked up near the postoffice. The accident happened about 8 o'clock last night. The boy has been accustomed to riding the pony and attempted to jump off in the vicinity of the postoffice. His foot caught and he was unable to release himself. The frightened animal dragged him 40 yards, battering out the boy's brains. One eye was torn out and the other protruded.

INDOOR CARNIVAL

Camels Will Have Grand Carnival at Their Hall and Club Rooms

In April

At the regular meeting Monday evening, the Camels approved of the plan to give a grand indoor carnival in their hall and club rooms on or about April 20th and 21st. Elaborate plans are being perfected and there will be a large amount set aside for prizes. It is the intention of the committee to get some good talent for vaudeville besides the local talent. Everything possible for the entertainment of the visitors will be on hand, and it will not be the fault of the Camels if visitors fail to have a good time. There will be a queen of the carnival contest as well.

During this week the Camels will also give the long looked for Oriental masque ball. The decorations will be on the Oriental order and many of the costumes will be of an oriental design.

On Saturday of this same week the Camels will hold a large banquet in their auditorium for the members and those who have made application for membership in the order. It is intended to have some prominent speakers from the cities on hand this night.

The following Monday night the largest class in fraternal circles in Brainerd will be initiated into the order. Every member of the order is working towards this end and this month should see a large addition to the already large membership.

Details of the carnival will be published from time to time as well as the program of different events.

PUBLIC LIBRARY MAINTENANCE

The Proposed Amendment to the City Charter Should not be Lost Sight of at the Election

IS WORTHY OF CONSIDERATION

Public Libraries in Other Cities are Maintained in Whole or in Part by Public Taxation

During the excitement incident to a hotly contested general election in this city it is not unlikely that one of the proposed amendments to the city charter relating to the public library might receive only casual or secondary consideration.

However there are a number of facts pertaining to this proposed amendment that are worthy of the consideration of every intelligent voter in the city.

In common with about one hundred other cities in Minnesota including practically every city in the state of more than 3,000 inhabitants, Brainerd has a Public Library.

Let it be remembered that Brainerd stands in the class as one of the first ten cities in the state in point of population and commercial importance. These cities maintain their public libraries in whole or in part by public taxation and when the question comes up concerning how much of a public burden the city library tax is, let it be remembered that this city is only doing what every other city of more than three thousand inhabitants is doing, only Brainerd is doing it in a lesser degree as the figures presented below will plainly indicate.

An important fact that is many times overlooked by the average individual is that certain forms of economy may become a practical extravagance. It would be an extravagance for a professional man, the lawyer or doctor, to economize to the extent of five or ten dollars a month in the location of his office if by so doing he were losing many times that amount in the extent of his business. It would be foolish economy to curtail necessary clerks or stenography hire if by so doing the efficiency of the business and the returns therefrom were seriously crippled.

It seems to us that just such a condition exists with reference to the Public Library of this city.

At the present time Brainerd has a public library well housed, in a good state of repair, nicely decorated so that it is inviting and attractive. It is doubtful if in a material way it were ever in as good condition as at the present time.

By careful economy and unusual care as to the books, a fairly good start has been made in the matter of providing it with books and periodicals.

The greatest obstacle to making the library the efficient instrument that it might be in a city of ten thousand inhabitants is the inadequacy of the necessary funds to keep it open every day in the week. The question is asked repeatedly by citizens: "Why is the library not open every day?" For an answer we would simply state that the funds provided under the present tax levy for library purposes are not sufficient to meet the necessary outlay in keeping the library open every day and this statement is based not on our own opinion but on the experience of the other cities of this state that maintain public libraries by public taxation.

If Albert Lea with the population, according to the last census, of six thousand, finds it necessary to raise by taxation $2,000 to properly maintain its library and if the other cities with population and taxes for library purposes as indicated below, is it reasonable to expect that Brainerd can offer the service naturally expected for about $1,200 a year?

The following indicates the population according to the 1910 census and the amount raised by taxation for public libraries:

Town	Population	Tax
Albert Lea	6,192	$ 2,040.20
Austin	6,969	2,620.89
Clouquet	7,031	3,867.30
Fergus Falls	6,887	1,819.06
Mankato	10,362	5,286.42
Owatonna	15,658	2,591.27
Red Wing	9,048	2,635.04
Rochester	7,844	3,391.26
St. Cloud	10,609	2,774.96
Stillwater	10,198	3,445.46
Two Harbors	4,990	2,213.12
Winona	18,538	10,310.96
Brainerd	8,526	1,251.38

The range towns of Hibbing, Virginia, Chisholm and Eveleth raise by taxation amounts so large in proportion to population that we intentionally omit them.

Now, just what will it mean to an ordinary tax-payer, to vote for the proposed increase?

If your property is assessed at $1,000, the additional quarter of a mill asked, to maintain the library more satisfactorily and more efficient, will cost you just 25 cents. As an advertisement for this city, will it not be worth the 25 cents additional?

DANCE AND CARD PARTY

House Committee of the Chamber of Commerce Report Elaborate Arrangements of Apr. 19

A Chamber of Commerce dancing and card party is assured according to members of the House Committee for the evening of Monday, April 19th. The chairman of the committees at a meeting Monday evening reported making elaborate arrangements for entertaining members, their wives, sisters, and sweethearts while the proceeds from the party are to be given to the Associated Charities.

It is planned to entertain members and their families in the club rooms on the second floor of the Iron Exchange building, where card tables will be provided and refreshments served while the hall on the third floor, now occupied by the Camels club, will be used for dancing. Frampton's seven piece orchestra will furnish the music for those desiring to trip the light fantastic. Music and entertainment will also be furnished those members who do not enjoy dancing which will be given in the large assembly room in the club rooms. Here also will be served light refreshments.

A reception committee of twenty-five has been appointed to look after the entertainment of members and their guests to see that everyone has a good time.

This being the first dance and card party given under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, the committee having arrangements in hand plan to make it so successful as to warrant an annual affair. It will be the occasion for old friends to meet and new ones to be made. Generally speaking it is to be an old-time housewarming affair.

The committee anticipate one of the largest crowds ever assembled in the cause of charity while no stone is to be unturned to make the affair a grand success. Members of the Chamber when joining were assured that they would not be required to make donations to charity. This promise is to be fulfilled by the giving of a dance and card party. Every member who purchases a ticket will be given value received in entertainment and refreshments yet all moneys are to be turned over to the Associated Charities. The expenses of the party are to be kept at a minimum so as to turn over as large a sum as possible.

DESCRIBED LIFE ON THE SHIP

"Well I Sure Was Lucky When I Shipped in the Navy", Wrote Hughson a Month Ago

Wilber I. Bissonette, of this city, lost a chum, Francis M. Hughson, when the ill fated submarine F 4 dived to the ocean depths near Honolulu and made her grave there. Hughson was a machinist, first class, enlisting from his home at Los Angeles, Cal., two years ago. Young Hughson leaves his parents and a young sister.

He had been corresponding regularly with Mr. Bissonette and the latter has many pictures of the submarine and some of its crew. Hughson, in a letter recently written, mentioned all hands working nights to help the electricians overhaul the batteries. Three shifts were worked. The F 4 was on a 48 hour engine run in January and made the best run.

Target practice followed in February and later she was to go in drydock at Honolulu, for about a month.

"Well, I sure was lucky when I shipped in the navy", wrote Hughson, who did not relish some of the land positions that he had held. He celebrated his 23rd birthday on January 6th.

Hughson also kept Mr. Bissonette well supplied with Honolulu papers. The last paper sent arrived in Brainerd March 20.

Tea table etiquette was somewhat complicated in the days of that "hardened and shameless tea drinker," Dr. Johnson, when many people thought nothing of drinking ten or twelve cups at a sitting. It was considered proper for the cups and saucers of a party of tea drinkers to be all passed up to the hostess in one batch when replenishment was considered necessary, and in order that each person might be sure of getting back the right cup the teaspoons were numbered. When the cups were passed up those who did not require any more tea were supposed to place the spoon in the cup.—London Saturday Review.

THE MASTER KEY

By John Fleming Wilson

By special arrangement for this paper a photo-drama corresponding to the installments of "The Master Key" may now be seen at the leading moving picture theaters. By arrangement made with the Universal Film Manufacturing company it is not only possible to read "The Master Key" in this paper, but also afterward to see moving pictures of our story.

"I guess it would be beyond your power to stop me." Faversham shook his head. "A word from me to the authorities and you would find yourself not only debarred from such a foolhardy expedition, but politely yet firmly made to leave the country."

John grinned. "I suppose that's right," he agreed. "But you won't be a spoil sport, will you?"

The baronet shook his head. "No, I won't. But I can't go myself. I'll stop here and have an eye out for Miss Gallon. Then if a rescue expedition is in order I can be here to head it."

For the moment John was blinded by a blaze of jealousy.

While he was risking his life for Ruth's sake Faversham would sit comfortably within the protection of his club and plot ways of winning Ruth.

He curtly accepted the offer of the servant and went off to make his preparations. These made, he sought Ruth. He found her in a strange state of excitement. Evidently the consul and his wife had not spared pains to impress upon her the dangers of the proposed expedition.

"They're old grannies," was John's disrespectful comment. "Ruth, you know that without those plans we're helpless to make 'The Master Key' into what your father wanted it to be. I set out to get those plans, and I've not come this far to turn back."

"I know," she said miserably. "But everybody says it is all foolishness. Sir Donald!"

"Oh, that quitter!" he interrupted. "I know he prefers sitting around making love to you to doing something really worth while."

There was the glimmer of a smile on Ruth's lips as she answered meekly. "Then you don't think that—sitting around—and making love to me—is worth while?"

For a moment John stood and stared at her. The blood rushed into his face.

Then the full meaning of his light evasion of his real meaning struck him like a blow between the eyes.

His heart was filled with love for her, a love that had grown and increased since the hour when he had first seen her at old Tom Gallon's door.

He had thought that his devoted service to her interests, his constant attention to the slightest detail that could insure her future happiness, would have published that love to her.

He was minded to tell her now, to forego all else in order to woo her for himself.

"Ruth"—he began. But some subtle change in her manner froze the hot words on his lips.

"Well," he went on, controlling himself by a tremendous effort and trying to speak lightly, "I'll be off. Thank heaven you'll be safe here."

There was a struggle in Ruth's breast too. Yet the memory of her promise to Faversham stilled her.

In that long and terrible moment she realized that John Dorr was all in all to her. Yet she was bound to another who had risked his life on the strength of her promise to marry him, and she could not speak what was in her heart.

She tried to look John bravely in the eyes, and the tears would come in spite of her.

She bowed her head, and so he left her, with bitterness in his soul, not the firm resolve to carry out his self appointed task no matter what the outcome.

Faversham was as good as his word, and the old native agreed once more to risk the hills and guard this stranger who, he was convinced, had lost his mind.

But his duty was plain and Sir Donald's injunctions not to be trifled with. That evening the two of them set forth, following in the track of Wilkerson and his party.

That John should have departed without further farewell hurt Ruth sorely.

It seemed to mark a definite break in their frank relations, and she felt that when he returned with the plans she would have to receive him on an entirely new footing—the footing of a business man with his employer.

And while the hurt was fresh she turned to Sir Donald gratefully. He had acted most delicately in all their experiences together. He had proved his devotion by coming with them to India and during the horrible nightmare when their hotel had been the center of assault by fanatical natives. He had accepted her promise without undue exactions. He had seemed to be waiting till he and she could speak more definitely.

Faversham was by no means dull, and he played the part of a kind friend during the first days of John's absence.

He knew that Dorr was in love with Ruth, and he strongly suspected that her feeling for him had once bordered on love.

He would tear open no old wounds. He was devoted, cheerful, always at her call, but never insistent on his privileges.

The American consul liked him from the first and told his wife that Ruth would be a fool if she preferred a hare-brained idiot to a solid gentleman with no nonsense about him and assured position in society.

Mrs. Reynolds, having been rebuffed when she sought Ruth's confidences, merely stated it as her opinion that all girls were alike, a dogma the consul was too wise to argue.

But he gave Sir Donald the freedom of the consulate and saw to it that he had every chance to visit with Ruth.

Now, the baronet was not only no dullard, but he had been bred in a school that forbade him to linger too long before claiming Ruth openly as his fiancée.

At exactly the right moment he offered her a gorgeous ring and pressed his suit ardently. He said nothing of the promise he had exacted, and Ruth for very shame's sake accepted the ring and the ensuing congratulations of Mr. Reynolds, his wife and their friends.

Deep in her heart she felt herself a traitor to John Dorr, alone on his perilous errand, gone into the hills without even a stray word of his safety coming back.

It was not long before Dorr, through his servant's ready tongue, learned of the flight of the priests with the idol, their subsequent defeat by Wilkerson and that man's escape, together with Drake. There was but one thing to do—follow Wilkerson.

The Wings of Time.

"Mamma," said little Tommy as he closed the big book, "what are the 'wings of time'?"

"The 'wings of time,' my son," replied his mother in loud tones, "are the faded wings I have been wearing on my hat for three seasons."

And then pa coughed uneasily and told Tommy if he did not stop asking foolish questions he would send him to bed.

GIVING OUT JOBS PROVES A PUZZLE

Patronage Causes Defeat of Many Congressmen.

BEST MEN SELDOM CHOSEN.

Taggart of Kansas Wants Law to Prevent Representatives From Making Recommendations and Would Fine Any Person Asking For a Position. Value of Advertising Illustrated.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, March 31.—[Special.]—Patronage is a great burden on many congressmen. Many of them would like to escape, but they are so situated that they must make recommendations and they are bound to make enemies whenever they make a choice.

"I would like to see a statute," said Congressman Taggart of Kansas, "which would be effective enough to prevent congressmen from recommending appointments to the executive departments, and would make it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine for any person to ask a congressman to make such recommendations."

Of course such a statute will never be enacted, and we will go on as since the beginning, and the congressman will handle the patronage in his district and make enemies accordingly.

What Happens Now.

"What happens now," continued Taggart, "is that the local organization picks out some good fellow, or he picks himself out and is endorsed by the organization and his name is sent to the congressman and passed on to the department. The man is appointed to take charge of a business he knows nothing about. He doesn't even know how to get his own letters out or into the mails. He is put over men who do know and who are working at a much smaller salary, while he remains in the front office occasionally signing his name, but doing nothing else."

Of course that is an unusual picture which the Kansas man drew, but it often happens in cases where patronage is dispensed to good workers rather than to men who will make the most efficient officials. The average politician at home is not caring much about postal efficiency when the job is in sight. He wants to be on the payroll.

It Pays to Advertise.

The general public may not be aware of the fact, but there is still in the United States government a bureau of chemistry. No one has heard anything about it since Dr. Harvey W. Wiley resigned, but it has been going along quietly and is supposed to be doing as much business as before, but on account of the lack of publicity it has dropped out of sight.

There is a chief of the weather bureau, but no one can tell who he is, save the few officials whose duty it is to know such things. He is an excellent man no doubt, but when any one thinks of the weather bureau he thinks also of Willis L. Moore, who advertised that bureau thoroughly.

Just by Way of Contrast.

"On the other hand," as the newspaper correspondents were wont to write in the Roosevelt days, take the Pan-American bureau, with John Barrett at its head. That bureau is not forgotten for a week nor in any part of the United States. If nothing happens John Barrett makes something happen. If he is not talking he has some one else saying something. He keeps things moving. He is the best advertiser the United States knows anything about, with one exception. There will always be one exception to most every rule and statement as long as Theodore Roosevelt is alive.

"Nix" on the Extra Session.

From now until congress meets again there will be talk about an extra session. But there is nothing doing in that line. Having got rid of congress, the president is not going to call it back here to make trouble for him.

What is a Democrat?

I have heard that three men of the Wilson cabinet are not Democrats. The reason assigned for their lack of Democracy is because they still retain Republicans in good lucrative positions, some of them positions of trust and importance. It makes the average Democrat mad to be told that the reason why a Republican is not removed from an executive position and a good salary is because he is indispensable. Many of them recall that when Andrew Jackson found an "indispensable man" he abolished the office on the ground that such places and men should not exist in any government. But at the same time there are many hungry Democrats about who are wondering why Republicans continue to hold down good jobs.

A Volume of Regrets.

The last issue of the Congressional Record might be called a "Volume of Regrets." It carried many "leave to print" speeches, in which members bemoaned the fact that no rural credits measure was provided. It seems rather strange in a congress in which no one opposed and every person seemed to declare himself in favor of rural credits that no action was taken. It begins to look like buncombe, especially as the McCumber amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill afforded an opportunity to legislate on rural credits.

LAWS, NOT WAR, TO BLAME

Illinois Manufacturers Plead for Period of Rest.

Springfield, Ill., March 31.—Protests against legislation without investigation and assertions that business is in such condition that it cannot stand further regulation were made here by members of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, who pleaded for "a period of rest."

A statement of business conditions, which will be sent to members of the legislature, was adopted. It reads in part:

"Let us squarely face the fact that business today is suffering, not so much from the war as it is from its enforced readjustment to serious federal legislative changes."

"This readjustment had but begun when the European war brought in its train the most serious stress that business ever has weathered."

THREE BILLS OVERLOOKED

Measures Passed Were Never Sent for Enrollment.

Bismarck, N. D., March 31.—Carelessness cost the life of three bills at the recent session of the legislature here. It has been discovered that senate bill 109, relating to township officers' bonds, while it passed both the house and senate, was never sent to the enrolling force.

Senator England's concurrent resolution memorializing congress to allow former citizens their rights after one year's residence in this country on return from Canada was the second one missed and Representative Williams' concurrent resolution asking congress to take steps toward abatement of the Mississippi river floods was the third.

BUTTE POLICEMAN IS SLAIN

Body of Officer Is Found With Two Bullet Wounds.

Butte, Mont., March 31.—The body of Policeman Ivan W. Lincoln was found here. He had been shot twice. Lincoln was the officer who stood at the corner of a downtown street recently when Deputy Sheriff Thomas Monroe, chief of mine guards, was shot and killed by Harry Robinson, vice president of the mine workers.

CITY PRESIDENT RECALLED

Executive of Ray, N. D., Defeated at Election.

Ray, N. D., March 31.—W. B. Scott, president of Ray, the smallest commission governed city in the world, was recalled, W. W. Wirtz being elected his successor.

Dr. Scott's retirement was brought about by a vote of 89 to 46 and follows a court action in which Dr. Scott was sued for breach of promise.

"I guess it would be beyond your power to stop me."

Faversham shook his head. "A word from me to the authorities and you would find yourself not only debarr'd from such a foolhardy expedition, but politely yet firmly made to leave the country."

John grinned. "I suppose that's right," he agreed. "But you won't be a spoil sport, will you?"

The baronet shook his head. "No, I won't. But I can't go myself. I'll stop here and have an eye out for Miss Gallon. Then if a rescue expedition is in order I can be here to head it."

For the moment John was blinded by a blaze of jealousy.

While he was risking his life for Ruth's sake Faversham would sit comfortably within the protection of his club and plot ways of winning Ruth.

He curtly accepted the offer of the servant and went off to make his preparations. These made, he sought Ruth. He found her in a strange state of excitement. Evidently the consul and his wife had not spared pains to impress upon her the dangers of the proposed expedition.

"They're old grannies," was John's disrespectful comment. "Ruth, you know that without those plans we're helpless to make 'The Master Key' into what your father wanted it to be. I set out to get those plans, and I've not come this far to turn back."

"I know," she said miserably. "But everybody says it is all foolishness. Sir Donald!"

"Oh, that quitter!" he interrupted. "I know he prefers sitting around making love to you to doing something really worth while."

There was the glimmer of a smile on Ruth's lips as she answered meekly. "Then you don't think that sitting around—and making love to me—is worth while?"

For a moment John stood and stared at her. The blood rushed into his face. Then the full meaning of her light evasion of his real meaning struck him like a blow between the eyes.

His heart was filled with love for her, a love that had grown and increased since the hour when he had first seen her at old Tom Gallon's door.

He had thought that his devoted service to her interests, his constant attention to the slightest detail that could insure her future happiness, would have published that love to her.

He was minded to tell her now, to forego all else in order to woo her for himself.

"Ruth"—he began. But some subtle change in her manner froze the hot words on his lips.

"Well," he went on, controlling himself by a tremendous effort and trying to speak lightly, "I'll be off. Thank heaven you'll be safe here."

There was a struggle in Ruth's breast too. Yet the memory of her promise to Faversham stilled her.

In that long and terrible moment she realized that John Dorr was all in all to her. Yet she was bound to another who had risked his life on the strength of her promise to marry him, and she could not speak what was in her heart.

She tried to look John bravely in the eyes, and the tears would come in spite of her.

She bowed her head, and so he left her, with bitterness in his soul, but the firm resolve to carry out his self appointed task no matter what the outcome.

Faversham was as good as his word, and the old native agreed once more to risk the hills and guard this stranger who, he was convinced, had lost his mind.

When Chest Thumping Began.

For fifteen years Dr. Jean Nicolas de Corvisart practiced chest tapping in diagnosing disease, getting little but abuse from his fellow practitioners. Along came Napoleon and made Dr. Corvisart his physician. Dr. Corvisart somewhat surprised Napoleon when he thumped his chest by way of examination. Napoleon, with his characteristic shrewdness, recognized the advantage of a scientific test over guesswork and engaged Corvisart to be his regular adviser. The method of chest tapping now came into immediate vogue.—Kansas City Star.

A Kitchen Martyr.

Even the kitchen can boast its martyrs. Chief among these was Vatel, the chief cook of Conde, who ran himself through the heart with a sword because the fish had not arrived in time for a banquet which his master was giving Louis XIV. Vatel's pangs are to be found in the concluding volume of the "Almanach des Gourmands." "So noble a death insures you, venerable shade, the most glorious immortality! You have proved that the fanaticism of honor can exist in the kitchen as well as in the camp, and that the spit and the saucepan have also their Catos and their Deciius."—London Mail.

PLUMBERS SEEK NEW TRIAL

Attorney Says Evidence Was Insufficient for Blanket Verdict.

Des Moines, March 31.—L. C. Boyle, attorney for the thirty-six master plumbers convicted in federal court here Feb. 24 last, on the charge of violating the Sherman anti-trust law, declared before Judge John C. Pollock that the evidence in the trial was not sufficient to warrant the blanket verdict of the jury.

Claude R. Porter, district attorney, will argue against the granting of the motion.
